11.30am – 12.20pm	Session 3: The Accountability Gap: What Bird v DP & the AA Cases Mean for Charities and NFPs The High Court's decisions in Bird v DP and AA v The Trustees of the Roman Catholic Church for the Diocese of Maitland-Newcastle have widened the accountability expectations placed on organisations working with children and vulnerable people, even when those organisations are not directly at fault. For charities and NFPs, the cases highlight the urgent need to re-examine governance structures, volunteer management, and the scope of legal duty. This session explains what the rulings really mean in practice, helping boards and executives understand where their exposure lies and how to strengthen protections. It covers: <ul style="list-style-type: none">• Understanding the practical implications of the High Court's decision in Bird v DP through the lens of charities and not-for-profits• How the decision in Bird v DP affects non-religious charities and NFPs with volunteers and contractors in child-facing roles• The High Court's decision in AA v The Trustees of the Roman Catholic Church for the Diocese of Maitland-Newcastle and potential implications for the sector moving forward• What role the law of non-delegable duty might play in future claims concerning historical sexual abuse• The importance of implementing proactive risk management strategies Speaker: Luke Geary, Partner, Mills Oakley, Brisbane, Qld

1.20pm – 2.10pm	Session 4: Labels Matter: Classifying Workers, Contractors and Volunteers Under the New Section 15AA Framework The introduction of section 15AA to the Fair Work Act has reshaped how organisations must determine whether a person is an employee or an independent contractor, a shift that has significant consequences for charities and NFPs that rely on diverse workforce arrangements, including volunteers. Misclassification brings real risks: unpaid entitlements, unexpected tax and superannuation obligations, unfair dismissal claims and regulatory scrutiny. This session provides a practical roadmap for navigating the new landscape and ensuring your organisation correctly identifies every type of worker engagement. It covers: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Understanding section 15AA and what the revived multi-factorial test requires in practice • Identifying the “real substance” of a working relationship and weighing the key indicators of employment versus contracting • Distinguishing genuine volunteers from unpaid employees, and managing documentation and expectations to avoid unintentionally creating employment relationships • Navigating the contractor high-income threshold and avoiding exposure to unfair contract and sham contracting claims • Knowing when workers, including low-paid contractors, may be entitled to minimum wages, leave, superannuation or unfair dismissal protections • Implementing practical, defensible systems to ensure your worker classifications are accurate across both paid and unpaid cohorts Speaker: Denise O’Reilly, Principal Lawyer, O’Reilly Workplace Law, Gold Coast, Qld
2.10 – 2.20pm	Questions and Discussion
2.20pm – 3.10pm	Session 5: Safeguarding Your Mission: Proactive Prevention of Sexual Harassment in the Charities and NFP Sector The positive duty to take proactive and meaningful action to prevent sexual harassment necessitates cultural change addressing the unique dynamics of mission-driven environments. In this session, attendees will gain an understanding of how to implement comprehensive prevention strategies across their organisation, including: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The intersection between equality, anti-discrimination and work health and safety laws as they apply to both employed staff and volunteers • The positive duty to prevent sexual harassment under the Sex Discrimination Act 1984 • The preventative and proactive nature of the positive duty to prevent sexual harassment • How to implement measures required to satisfy the duty including risk assessments, codes of conduct and training programs • Stop sexual harassment orders and the implications for organisations that fail to meet their prevention obligations • Best practice for creating a safe workplace culture Speaker: Bridget Nunn, Partner, Thomson Geer, Adelaide, SA

Session 6: Hidden Dangers in Plain Sight: Managing Psychosocial Hazards in Charities and NFPs

Charities and NFPs face unique psychological safety challenges that distinguish them from traditional workplaces, with staff and volunteers often working in emotionally demanding roles supporting vulnerable communities whilst operating under resource constraints and mission-driven pressures. In this session, we will examine how organisations can identify, assess and control psychosocial risks for both employees and volunteers, including:

- Understanding psychosocial hazards specific to charitable and not-for-profit environments including vicarious trauma and compassion fatigue
- The importance of implementing systematic risk identification and assessment to capture the full range of psychosocial risks
- Developing effective control measures and intervention strategies tailored to the charities and NFPs context
- Creating policies and reporting frameworks that establish clear channels for employees and volunteers to report psychosocial hazards without fear of reprisal
- Building comprehensive training programs on workplace psychosocial hazards
- Establishing monitoring and continuous improvement systems that allow for responsive adjustment of psychological safety measures
