- When Family Trusts Turn Toxic: Trustee Duties, Distribution Disasters, And Removal Remedies
- Bendel and Beyond: Section 100A, Division 7A and the New Trust Tax Landscape
- Trust Tax Reform: What Estate Planners Need to Do Now
- Integrating Super in the Estate Plan: Tax, Trusts and Tactical Alignment
- Special Needs Beneficiaries and the Estate Plan: Balancing Care, Control and Compliance

9.00 – 9.15am	Morning Theme: Trust Foundations – Control, Compliance and Tax Introduction and Welcome Chair: to be advised
9.15 – 10.00am	Session 1: Ruling From the Grave: Why Wills Fail, And Deeds Succeed in Trust Succession Planning While many controllers of trusts assume their will can handle successor appointments, using testamentary nominations for trust succession gives rise to legal issues that can leave trust assets in limbo. This session explores the role of dedicated trust succession deeds, including: • How trust deed control structures, and not testamentary documents, determine succession • How the appointor role represents the true control mechanism for discretionary trusts • Why will nominations fail and the fatal flaws of testamentary trust succession • Avoiding exposure of sensitive succession plans to banks, the ATO, land titles offices and other third parties • When to use dedicated trust deeds with trigger events for flexible, revocable and private succession planning • How to implement mechanisms to ensure specific distributions occur on death while maintaining trust flexibility and tax advantages • Managing complex succession structures with multiple appointors • Practical case study Speaker: Greg Russo, Principal, AccS(Wills&Estates), Greg Russo Law, Melbourne, Vic
10.00 – 10.10am	Panel Comments and Questions

10.10 – 10.55am	Session 2: When Family Trusts Turn Toxic: Trustee Duties, Distribution Disasters, And Removal Remedies The decision in Owies v JJE Nominees, alongside a wave of other recent decisions, serves as a cautionary tale about what happens when family dysfunction meets poor trust administration. This session examines the essential duties trustees owe to all beneficiaries and the consequences of failing to meet these obligations, including: • The “real and genuine consideration” requirement • Pattern evidence of trustee failures • Information gathering obligations • The distinction between void and voidable distributions • Trustee independence requirements • Removal of trustees in practice • Practical risk management strategies Speaker: Ed Skilton, Principal, Sladen Legal, Melbourne, Vic
10.55 – 11.05am	Panel Comments and Questions
11.05 – 11.30am	Morning Break
11.30am – 12.15pm	Session 3: Bendel and Beyond: Section 100A, Division 7A and the New Trust Tax Landscape The High Court's decision in Bendel v FCT has resolved the Division 7A treatment of unpaid present entitlements, but the practical and planning implications for estate planners are still being worked through. Combined with the ATO's sustained focus on Section 100A and family group distributions, the compliance landscape for trust-based succession structures has fundamentally shifted. This session unpacks the new environment, including: • Section 100A and reimbursement agreements: what the ATO is targeting in family group planning and the current state of the case law • What the High Court decided in Bendel and what it means for unpaid present entitlements going forward • Division 7A and trust-company arrangements post-Bendel: where the risks now sit • Family trust distribution tax and its impact on estate planning strategies • Drafting wills, deeds and succession structures to reflect the post-Bendel environment • Risk management strategies for advisers Speaker: Kimberley Barnes, Senior Associate, McInnes Wilson Lawyers, Brisbane, Qld
12.15 – 12.25pm	Panel Comments and Questions
12.25 – 1.15pm	Lunch Break

1.15 – 1.20pm

Afternoon Theme: Protecting the Wealth Transfer – Tax, Super and Vulnerable Beneficiaries

Introduction and welcome

Chair: to be advised

2.00pm – 2.45pm

Session 4: Trust Tax Reform: What Estate Planners Need to Do Now

The Federal Budget's proposed reforms to the taxation of discretionary trusts represent the most significant change to trust taxation in a generation, with direct consequences for how families structure intergenerational wealth transfers. This session unpacks the proposed reforms and their practical implications for estate planning, including:

- What the proposed reforms actually change: the mechanics of the new trust taxation regime
- Who is affected: which trust structures and family arrangements face the greatest impact
- The transitional period: timing considerations and what can realistically be done before commencement
- Restructuring discretionary trusts ahead of reform, including pre-CGT asset preservation strategies and the trade-offs involved
- Trust deed amendments in anticipation of reform: drafting opportunities and CGT "resettlement" risks

Speaker: Daniel Smedley, Principal, Sladen Legal, Melbourne, Vic

2.45 – 2.55pm

Panel Comments and Questions

2.55pm – 3.40pm	Session 5: Integrating Super in the Estate Plan: Tax, Trusts and Tactical Alignment Superannuation, often a person's largest asset, operates under a distinct legal framework that can override testamentary wishes. This session tackles the complexities and risks of dealing with superannuation in the estate plan, focusing on compliance pitfalls and strategic integration with wills and trusts, including: • Navigating the interaction between binding death benefit nominations (BDBNs), trustee discretion and court challenges • Technical requirements for valid BDBNs – where practitioners see the most compliance failures • Managing automatic expiry rules, lapsed nominations and the risks of “set and forget” approaches • Strategies when nomination categories are limited or where no qualifying dependants exist • The impact of Division 296 on estate planning for high-balance members: restructuring, recontribution strategies and the timing of death benefit payments • Aligning BDBNs with will provisions, testamentary trusts and tax-effective estate structures • Integrating superannuation planning with broader financial advice Speaker: Dung Lam, Principal, West Garbutt, Sydney, NSW
3.40 – 3.50pm	Panel Comments and Questions
3.50 – 4.10pm	Afternoon Break
4.10 – 4.55pm	Session 6: Special Needs Beneficiaries and the Estate Plan: Balancing Care, Control and Compliance Planning for vulnerable beneficiaries requires careful coordination between estate structures, tax rules and social security entitlements. Poor drafting can leave beneficiaries exposed or jeopardise vital government support. This session guides practitioners through the practical and legal issues, including: • Choosing between Special Disability Trusts and discretionary trusts • How inheritances affect NDIS and Centrelink entitlements • Structuring protective mechanisms for beneficiaries with addiction, spendthrift or mental health challenges • Appointing appropriate trustees, guardians and support networks • Drafting provisions to balance flexibility with accountability • Coordinating legal, medical and financial advice to protect the most vulnerable clients Speaker: Jennifer Dixon, Practice Leader and AccS(Wills&Estates), Moores, Melbourne, Vic
4.55 – 5.05pm	Panel Comments and Questions
5.05pm	Masterclass Close
